

Homes for the Future, Glasgow | Staffordshire Slate Blue Smooth

blue & blue multis range

Homes for the Future is one of Glasgow's flagship projects, completed in 1999, and bringing together architects, developers and planners to create a contemporary new development on Glasgow Green, a previously neglected part of the City.

Henry McKeown of McKeown Alexander states: "We had first rate technical assistance from Ibstock, which greatly contributed to the outcome of the works." Since its completion, 'Homes for the Future' has won a number of awards, including a Civic Trust Award 2002, GIA Award 2000, Saltire Society Award 2001 and Regeneration of Scotland 'Supreme Award' 2000; making it a fitting legacy to Glasgow's title of 'UK City of Architecture & Design 1999'.
